

EXTRAVAGANT FASHIONS AND FANCIES THAT FASCINATE WOMEN WITH WISDOM AND WIT

WOMAN OUTSIDE THE HOME

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

ABOLISHING BRIDGET

Food Expert.

all be considered and attempts made to please them all. Then, to get away from the idea of community eating, the subscribers may have their dinners sent to their own homes, and, if desired, meals can be sent along to serve them in the parlors and dining rooms. They will be provided for the delivery of these meals, so that the food is sure to be kept hot and in perfect condition until it is served.

The kitchen is to be provided with all the most modern and efficient ranges and cooking apparatus and the most attractive silver and table accessories. Beauty has been the constant aim of the planners and the dining room is extremely harmonious and restful.

A dietitian is to have charge of the making of the menus and the compounding of the dishes, a trained housekeeper will attend to the marketing and the general preparation of the meals and a graduate of the domestic science department of Columbia University will give part of her time to the figuring of prices.

Most important of all, it has been announced that nothing but tested and approved pure foods will be used. WILL BANISH KITCHEN TROUBLES. The most obvious advantage to be derived from this scheme is of course the absence of cooking in the homes of the subscribers. There will be no purchasing, no preparation, no smells of cooking and no laborious scouring of pans. Along with this will come the advantage of skilled buying and planning, the economy of buying in large quantities and the saving of fuel.

A LOGICAL DEVELOPMENT. Large scale production has proved itself to be economical and efficient, and, to the exception of cooking, all the industries once confined to the home have gone into the factory. Cooking, however, has never been much of a success outside of the home, for the simple reason that human beings have different tastes and desires, and that those who prepare meals as a business are seeking profits rather than pleasure in their patrons.

Community kitchens have never realized that they must make all sorts of varieties of things to please all sorts of people. But just as the shoe manufacturer utilizes the same machinery, the same building, the same general materials and the same workmen to make all kinds of shoes, so the kitchen should not succeed in serving the individual. The Montclair Kitchen intends to preserve the individuality of each subscriber by serving by giving each subscriber what he or she wants. The "crank," the vegetarian, the dyspeptic and the epicure will

AN ATTRACTIVE LITTLE FROCK THAT THE FLAPPER MIGHT WEAR EFFECTIVELY

MODES OF THE HOUR

The vogue for the colors known as sand and putty is not confined to shoes and stockings and hats; frocks in these colors in combination with black velvet are delightful, or with some one of the beautiful furs now fashionable.

The drop skirt is a factor in confusing the judgment. For, while the circular skirt and the shirred skirt are now established styles, the drop skirt holds its place and is seen in the very latest models.

Frequently it serves as a contrast to the bouffant lace or chiffon of the overdress in a connection for evening wear. And times without number it is used to carry out the creative scheme of a dress made of two materials or two contrasting colors.

In some of the frocks of recent design the drop skirt shows only when the wearer is in motion. It is of the same length or even shorter than the outer skirt, which is circular and with big ruffles at the foot. The foot, by the way, is merely a form of speech, for those enormously full skirts are usually at least eight inches from the ground.

This means the smartest of footwear, and stockings that match the cloth upper of the gaiter boot are not simply surmised but seen.

WOMAN OUTSIDE THE HOME

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

ABOLISHING BRIDGET

Food Expert.

all be considered and attempts made to please them all. Then, to get away from the idea of community eating, the subscribers may have their dinners sent to their own homes, and, if desired, meals can be sent along to serve them in the parlors and dining rooms. They will be provided for the delivery of these meals, so that the food is sure to be kept hot and in perfect condition until it is served.

The kitchen is to be provided with all the most modern and efficient ranges and cooking apparatus and the most attractive silver and table accessories. Beauty has been the constant aim of the planners and the dining room is extremely harmonious and restful.

A dietitian is to have charge of the making of the menus and the compounding of the dishes, a trained housekeeper will attend to the marketing and the general preparation of the meals and a graduate of the domestic science department of Columbia University will give part of her time to the figuring of prices.

Most important of all, it has been announced that nothing but tested and approved pure foods will be used. WILL BANISH KITCHEN TROUBLES. The most obvious advantage to be derived from this scheme is of course the absence of cooking in the homes of the subscribers. There will be no purchasing, no preparation, no smells of cooking and no laborious scouring of pans. Along with this will come the advantage of skilled buying and planning, the economy of buying in large quantities and the saving of fuel.

A LOGICAL DEVELOPMENT. Large scale production has proved itself to be economical and efficient, and, to the exception of cooking, all the industries once confined to the home have gone into the factory. Cooking, however, has never been much of a success outside of the home, for the simple reason that human beings have different tastes and desires, and that those who prepare meals as a business are seeking profits rather than pleasure in their patrons.

Community kitchens have never realized that they must make all sorts of varieties of things to please all sorts of people. But just as the shoe manufacturer utilizes the same machinery, the same building, the same general materials and the same workmen to make all kinds of shoes, so the kitchen should not succeed in serving the individual. The Montclair Kitchen intends to preserve the individuality of each subscriber by serving by giving each subscriber what he or she wants. The "crank," the vegetarian, the dyspeptic and the epicure will

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

Food Values. The careful housewife today learns a great many things she never had taken into consideration before. The nutritive value of foods is one of them.

FOR THE ANEMIC GIRL Remedies That Will Improve Her Health. The anemic girl is a serious problem; not for the present, perhaps, but for the future.

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

Food Values. The careful housewife today learns a great many things she never had taken into consideration before. The nutritive value of foods is one of them.

FOR THE ANEMIC GIRL Remedies That Will Improve Her Health. The anemic girl is a serious problem; not for the present, perhaps, but for the future.

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

FIRST AIDS—USEFUL TO KNOW

If a person should faint in a crowded space, where it is impossible to lie down, sit him or her in a chair and drop the head between the knees. The feeling of faintness will soon pass off.

A sprained ankle should be immersed in water as hot as the person can bear. Keep it at this temperature for about an hour and a half, renewing the water as fast as it cools.

Persons suffering from a stroke by lightning should be given a hot-water bag to the body and secure absolute rest for the patient.

The Servant Problem

There is no problem of daily life more difficult for the housekeeper to solve than the servant question. So much has already been said on the subject—ideal servants have given their experiences as a solution—and, of course, they failed entirely because they were ideal servants.

Give the maid an outline of her work for the coming week. You are not expected to tell her every separate detail, but she can do better work if she has some idea of her duties.

Never forget to pay a servant promptly. Let nothing interfere with this. She deserves her money if she has worked for it, and no servant will stay if her money is delayed.

Savory Macaroni

Ingredients—Four ounces of macaroni, one pint of milk, two ounces of grated cheese, half an ounce of butter, some bread-crumbs, salt and pepper to taste.

Correspondence of general interest to women readers will be printed on this page. Such correspondence should be addressed to the Editor, Evening Ledger.

THE CHILD'S LUNCH BASKET

The child's lunch basket should be carefully prepared, with an eye to cleanliness, compactness, nutritive values and attractiveness as well.

A little cake would save all this trouble and avert the consequences of malnutrition from your little boy or girl.

Sandwiches are a very good, staple food for the schoolboy. They are so easily made and so filling.

Whether or not women are born clinging vines, or simply acquire it, is an open question. One woman answered this way: "Of course a woman means to be a clinging vine."

The Charm of Flowers. Now that Christmas is coming, and the price of flowers is soaring daily to prohibitive heights, a good idea is to buy your flowers systematically.

Care of Infants' Eyes. Never expose the infant's eyes to the full glare of the sun. You often see a baby moving and fretting in its perambulator, and rubbing its fists into its eyes until they become irritated.

Odds and Ends. Many of the so-called "failures" of this life will no doubt surprise you by their success in the next.

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

Food Values. The careful housewife today learns a great many things she never had taken into consideration before. The nutritive value of foods is one of them.

THE CLINGING VINE

A Certain Type of Girl

Successful ridicule has almost eliminated the clinging-vine sort of girl, but as long as Eve's daughters survive, variations on the clinging type will survive too.

The clinging-vine sort of girl can't help herself," says another woman, "she's born that way, that's all. She hasn't any brains, or any intelligence, and she falls into the arms of the first man she meets."

Whether or not women are born clinging vines, or simply acquire it, is an open question. One woman answered this way: "Of course a woman means to be a clinging vine."

The Charm of Flowers. Now that Christmas is coming, and the price of flowers is soaring daily to prohibitive heights, a good idea is to buy your flowers systematically.

Care of Infants' Eyes. Never expose the infant's eyes to the full glare of the sun. You often see a baby moving and fretting in its perambulator, and rubbing its fists into its eyes until they become irritated.

Odds and Ends. Many of the so-called "failures" of this life will no doubt surprise you by their success in the next.

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

Food Values. The careful housewife today learns a great many things she never had taken into consideration before. The nutritive value of foods is one of them.

FOR THE ANEMIC GIRL Remedies That Will Improve Her Health. The anemic girl is a serious problem; not for the present, perhaps, but for the future.

WOMAN OUTSIDE THE HOME

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

ABOLISHING BRIDGET

Food Expert.

all be considered and attempts made to please them all. Then, to get away from the idea of community eating, the subscribers may have their dinners sent to their own homes, and, if desired, meals can be sent along to serve them in the parlors and dining rooms. They will be provided for the delivery of these meals, so that the food is sure to be kept hot and in perfect condition until it is served.

The kitchen is to be provided with all the most modern and efficient ranges and cooking apparatus and the most attractive silver and table accessories. Beauty has been the constant aim of the planners and the dining room is extremely harmonious and restful.

A dietitian is to have charge of the making of the menus and the compounding of the dishes, a trained housekeeper will attend to the marketing and the general preparation of the meals and a graduate of the domestic science department of Columbia University will give part of her time to the figuring of prices.

Most important of all, it has been announced that nothing but tested and approved pure foods will be used. WILL BANISH KITCHEN TROUBLES. The most obvious advantage to be derived from this scheme is of course the absence of cooking in the homes of the subscribers. There will be no purchasing, no preparation, no smells of cooking and no laborious scouring of pans. Along with this will come the advantage of skilled buying and planning, the economy of buying in large quantities and the saving of fuel.

A LOGICAL DEVELOPMENT. Large scale production has proved itself to be economical and efficient, and, to the exception of cooking, all the industries once confined to the home have gone into the factory. Cooking, however, has never been much of a success outside of the home, for the simple reason that human beings have different tastes and desires, and that those who prepare meals as a business are seeking profits rather than pleasure in their patrons.

Community kitchens have never realized that they must make all sorts of varieties of things to please all sorts of people. But just as the shoe manufacturer utilizes the same machinery, the same building, the same general materials and the same workmen to make all kinds of shoes, so the kitchen should not succeed in serving the individual. The Montclair Kitchen intends to preserve the individuality of each subscriber by serving by giving each subscriber what he or she wants. The "crank," the vegetarian, the dyspeptic and the epicure will

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

Food Values. The careful housewife today learns a great many things she never had taken into consideration before. The nutritive value of foods is one of them.

FOR THE ANEMIC GIRL Remedies That Will Improve Her Health. The anemic girl is a serious problem; not for the present, perhaps, but for the future.

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

Food Values. The careful housewife today learns a great many things she never had taken into consideration before. The nutritive value of foods is one of them.

FOR THE ANEMIC GIRL Remedies That Will Improve Her Health. The anemic girl is a serious problem; not for the present, perhaps, but for the future.

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

WOMAN OUTSIDE THE HOME

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

ABOLISHING BRIDGET

Food Expert.

all be considered and attempts made to please them all. Then, to get away from the idea of community eating, the subscribers may have their dinners sent to their own homes, and, if desired, meals can be sent along to serve them in the parlors and dining rooms. They will be provided for the delivery of these meals, so that the food is sure to be kept hot and in perfect condition until it is served.

The kitchen is to be provided with all the most modern and efficient ranges and cooking apparatus and the most attractive silver and table accessories. Beauty has been the constant aim of the planners and the dining room is extremely harmonious and restful.

A dietitian is to have charge of the making of the menus and the compounding of the dishes, a trained housekeeper will attend to the marketing and the general preparation of the meals and a graduate of the domestic science department of Columbia University will give part of her time to the figuring of prices.

Most important of all, it has been announced that nothing but tested and approved pure foods will be used. WILL BANISH KITCHEN TROUBLES. The most obvious advantage to be derived from this scheme is of course the absence of cooking in the homes of the subscribers. There will be no purchasing, no preparation, no smells of cooking and no laborious scouring of pans. Along with this will come the advantage of skilled buying and planning, the economy of buying in large quantities and the saving of fuel.

A LOGICAL DEVELOPMENT. Large scale production has proved itself to be economical and efficient, and, to the exception of cooking, all the industries once confined to the home have gone into the factory. Cooking, however, has never been much of a success outside of the home, for the simple reason that human beings have different tastes and desires, and that those who prepare meals as a business are seeking profits rather than pleasure in their patrons.

Community kitchens have never realized that they must make all sorts of varieties of things to please all sorts of people. But just as the shoe manufacturer utilizes the same machinery, the same building, the same general materials and the same workmen to make all kinds of shoes, so the kitchen should not succeed in serving the individual. The Montclair Kitchen intends to preserve the individuality of each subscriber by serving by giving each subscriber what he or she wants. The "crank," the vegetarian, the dyspeptic and the epicure will

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

Food Values. The careful housewife today learns a great many things she never had taken into consideration before. The nutritive value of foods is one of them.

FOR THE ANEMIC GIRL Remedies That Will Improve Her Health. The anemic girl is a serious problem; not for the present, perhaps, but for the future.

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

Food Values. The careful housewife today learns a great many things she never had taken into consideration before. The nutritive value of foods is one of them.

FOR THE ANEMIC GIRL Remedies That Will Improve Her Health. The anemic girl is a serious problem; not for the present, perhaps, but for the future.

Useful Hints. You can prevent your china from chipping if you put an old Turkish towel in the bottom of the dishpan.

Maison Bernard of Fifth Avenue, New York. At the request of a number of our patrons WE HAVE ARRANGED TO CONTINUE The Bellevue Stratford OUR ANNUAL CLEARANCE SALE During Next Week

Suburban House Plans are on display at Ledger Central. Broad and Chestnut streets. This service is designed to satisfy a demand among Ledger readers for practical information about home-building.

Furs of the Ballet. The J. Siefert, 1212 Walnut St.